

Seeking Tornado Victims

Rescue Squads Go Through Vicksburg Debris for Bodies; 30 Are Known Dead

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Rescue gangs worked in freezing weather today in a grisly hunt for additional victims of Saturday's vicious tornado that took at least 30 lives. The temperature dropped to 31 degrees in the heaviest city and frost covered lawns and other open ground in outlying areas.

National Guardsmen on guard duty built fires from the debris that littered the streets.

The two latest victims died in hospitals today and authorities said at least eight other persons remained on the critical list.

An undetermined number was left homeless as the twister destroyed 275 homes and damaged about the same number. In addition, 29 apartment buildings or multiple houses were destroyed. The Red Cross gave this breakdown on other destruction:

Industries, mills, plants destroyed 76; damaged 12.

Businesses, stores destroyed 76; damaged 189.

Churches destroyed 2; damaged 7.

Clubs, civic buildings damaged 18, none destroyed.

Dawn brought the noise of steam shovels, bulldozers and shovels after a heaviest, shivering night for the 28,000 residents.

Seventy to 75 of the 230 injured were crowded into Vicksburg's four main hospitals. They were warmed by blankets and electric heaters from the city's homes.

Civil defense and military leaders estimated the damage at 25 million dollars.

President Eisenhower last night declared the historic old city a disaster area, authorizing emergency funds to help rebuild 12 blocks of stores, homes and warehouses violently leveled Saturday night.

Today, torn Christmas decorations dangled from lamp posts. One fifth of the city was without electricity. There was no natural gas—the only heating and cooking fuel for most homes. The broken gas main was repaired late yesterday, but officials feared to turn it on because someone might have left a gas jet open.

The search continued through the night for the body of a 17-year-old girl believed buried in the wreckage of a clothing store.

Power shovels ate into the ruins of a dry goods store to reach the body of another 17-year-old, Jack Palmer, last seen bidding two customers good night as he closed the store.

An Army colonel who directed the search said the youth's body was found after hours of constant digging, pinned two floors below the street level under tons of brick and mortar.

Agreement Called One of the Best In Glass Industry

Four days of bargaining between Pittsburgh Corning Corporation and the American Flint Glass Workers' Union, A. F. L., Local 1004, at the Bothwell Hotel was climaxed by the signing of a new two-year contract Sunday night. In a joint announcement, Vice President L. O. Griffith and Works Manager Karl Baumbler, speaking for the company, and International Representative Harold Gibbons, Toledo, O., and Albert Vottero, Jeannette, Pa., and Local 1004 President Vern Abney, stated that the new contract provided for a general increase of $0.08 per hour effective Nov. 16, 1953, adjustment of various job inequities, improved working conditions and other fringe adjustments.

International Representative Gibbons and Vottero, on behalf of International President Harry H. Cooke, said they felt the contract they negotiated was among the best in the glass industry and one of the best which the workers could well be proud.

Local President Vern Abney, on behalf of the local, stated that they felt the contract was one that would please the membership. Mr. Abney further said he wished to thank his fellow officers and committeemen, as well as the international union for their real help in reaching this good result. Moreover, he said the local was glad the long tradition of amicable relationship between the company and the union was continued. Sen. McCarthy Praises Ike's Administration

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) says the Eisenhower administration has done "a tremendously good job since the first of the year" in removing 1,457 security risks from the government payroll.

Speaking last night before the Overbrook lecture club, he said also that the present administration's foreign policy is contrasted favorably with what he called the "Acheson foreign policy." This is due, he said, to "a strange voice in dealing with international communism."

Bandits Rob Wealthy Iowa Insurance Man

OCHEYEDAN, Iowa (AP)—Two bandits robbed a wealthy Ocheyedanan insurance man of more than $100,000 in government bonds and about $1,300 in cash last night. Sheriff Fred Huisman said today. The masked men entered the home of Charles Strayer, 77, reportedly one of the richest men in Ocheyedanan county, while he and his wife were playing dominoes in the kitchen.

Father Sees Son Die In Plane Crash

DREXEL (AP)—A light plane flown by a Kansas City man, crashed shortly after taking off from his family's farm, three miles south-west of here in Kansas.

Charles Lee Shepard, 27, died in the crash as his father stood on the ground not far from the scene and watched the fatal plunge. Another witness said the plane appeared to be on fire before it crashed.

80-mph. Chase By Police Car Ends In Wreck

Man Being Sought Drives Car Into Post on 2nd Street

A chase of a 1950 Ford coupe by the Sedalia Police, about 1:40 a.m. Sunday, resulted in the arrest of Robert E. Hunsaker, 22, of 415 East Broadway, after the Ford crashed into an iron guard post on the property of the Missouri Pacific railroad at the freight depot at the east end of Second Street.

Officer E. R. Carver, who was driving patrol car No. 11, accompanied by Officer Lloyd Paxton, was checking cars on Broadway about 1:35 a.m. when the Ford was noted to be driven in a careless manner at Broadway and Ohio. They started after the car and chased it down Broadway to Kentucky, north on Kentucky to Seventh, back east on Seventh to Ohio and north on Ohio, overtaking it at Third.

The officers stopped the car and told Hunsaker to drive to police headquarters. As they started off, the car speeded up and the officers gave chase again. The cars turned east on Second, and reached speeds of more than 80 miles an hour when they crossed Washington.

Hunsaker missed an opening between the iron posts at Second Street and crashed into one. He was thrown out of the car into the space used for a drive. In making a choice to hit for the opening and run over Hunsaker, or hitting the Ford, Carver rammed into the back end of the Ford car, smashing the left front fender and grill on the police car and the trunk on the coupe.

The front end of the car driven by Hunsaker was also damaged. The Ford car belongs to Clyde Morley, 714 East Fourth, from whom Hunsaker had borrowed it. Two youths, Willis Todd Jr., 15, of 501 East Howard, and Jim Griffin, 16, of Milner Hotel, were riding in the car with Hunsaker and escaped injury. They told the police they had been at Hill Top dancing and Hunsaker was supposed to take them home.

In police court Monday morning Hunsaker was charged with driving a car while intoxicated and was fined $75. Charged with resisting arrest, he was sentenced to 10 days in the city jail. Hunsaker pleaded not guilty and Officer Paxton testified.

Sings Here Tonight With Symphony--

Abe Rosenthal Calls Lee Cass 'Terrific' After Rehearsal Here

Abe Rosenthal, conductor of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra, listened in on the rehearsal Sunday night of Lee Cass, bass-baritone who will be guest artist at the concert this evening, and pronounced him "terrific."

The rehearsal took place at the home of Mrs. Mae Moser, 410 West Fourth. She will be Mr. Cass' accompanist tonight. Rosenthal said Cass has a truly outstanding voice.

Class has received equally enthusiastic notice from critics in Washington, D. C., where he made his debut at the National Gallery last spring. One wrote: "Cass has a voice of heroic dimension, with plenty of depth, height and width, is needed, and easy control in any register. . . it was interpretive work of a high order."

Dean Misses Today's Session to Talk With President Rhee, But Young Goes for Him

PANMUNJOM. (AP)—The chief U.S. delegate unexpectedly skipped today's negotiations with the Reds on a Korean peace conference and instead met with South Korean President Syngman Rhee at Seoul, possibly to talk over the dragging talks.

As Ambassador Arthur H. Dean talked with Rhee, aide Kenneth Young sat in for him at Panmunjom in a meeting he termed "a move forward."

Young said all points of the negotiations were discussed by both sides but gave no indication of any concrete progress.

Before Dean met with Rhee, U.S. ambassador to Korea, on what Young termed urgent business. Young declined to reveal the subject of discussion.

Dean represents 16 United Nations and South Korea in the efforts to set up a peace conference. South Korea has been outspoken in its ideas on such a conference, occasionally differing with Dean's line of negotiation.

In other developments:

1. Thirty more South Korean war prisoners refused to return home, making a total of 160 who have snubbed interviews with South Korean officers. Not one South Korean has returned in the five days of explanations.

2. The head of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said the Communists and the U.N. Command should decide what to do with POWs. . . refuse to go home if the peace conference does not meet soon.

3. The U.N. . . that by the truce terms they must be released as civilians on Jan. 23, even if the conference is not under way. The Reds insist that they be held until the conference discusses their fate.

The armistice terms give a conference until Jan. 22 to deal with the prisoners, but there is little indication it will get started by then.

4. Air Force Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, U.S. representative on the Joint Military Armistice Commission, accused the Communists of lying when they said all Allied war prisoners have been released or handed over to the custodian Indian command.

Lacey did not give any specific figures on how many Allied prisoners might still be in Red prison, but said: "In the face of the evidence I charge you with a violation of the armistice agreement. . . (and) false statements."

He denied Red charges that the UNC had tried to intimidate the repatriation commission and that Allied "agents" had been planted in the neutral zone compounds. Lacey said the Reds are attempting to blame everyone but themselves for a breakdown in their explanations to anti-Red Korean and Chinese POWs. More than 20,000 of the 22,600 handed over by the Allies have not been interviewed. Only 10 have been won back by the interviews.

The Reds halted their explanations in a dispute with the Indian custodian command over segregation of POWs and uninter-viewed POWs.

The explanation period ends Dec. 23, leaving too little time for the Reds to complete their interviews.

At the present rate, the Allies probably will begin explanations to 22 bally Americans and 1 Briton about Dec. 14 or 15, after the South Koreans are finished.

In the space conference negotiations, Young reviewed the Communist position in detail "to take stock as to where our discussions are going."

Young, who is the State Department's northeast Asia expert, told newsmen after the meeting that the Reds relied to his summary with "long, repetitious and essentially propaganda statement" which he did not say anything "not heard before."

The talks resume tomorrow. The dragging negotiations left Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, repatriation commission chairman, uncertain what he would do with the remaining prisoners if the conference does not begin soon.

Thimayya said he would seek evidence from his government in New Delhi. Prime Minister Nehru already has indicated he feels the two sides should take up the question again.

Thimayya told newsmen he does not know what his guards would do if the prisoners attempt a mass breakout after Jan. 23 when they are supposed to be released.

"If, I've had it either way," he said.

Thimayya said the Communists insist the armistice agreement has been broken because they had not made explanations to all the prisoners.

Father Kills Son, Takes Own Life at Home on East Howard

Jas. S. Carnes Attempted to Shoot Daughter And Threatened His Wife Before Leaving House, Then Fired Bullet Into Own Head

A despondent Sedalia father shot and killed his 13-year-old son, attempted to kill his six-year-old daughter, threatened his wife and then shot himself fatally about 7:40 a. m. today at the family home.

James S. Carnes, 38, of 320 East Howard, whom his wife described as apparently ill, went berserk and killed his son, Timothy Gene, as the boy stood in the kitchen pleading with his father, who had announced he was going to "kill you all." He attempted to shoot his little daughter, Patricia Ann, 6, as she fled out the front door of their four room home, then went out on the back porch and sat down on the edge of a well and fired a .22-caliber bullet into his brain.

Mrs. Neva Lucas Carnes, 33, gave to Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, and a newspaper reporter the following accounts of the incidents which took place at the home.

"We got up about 6:30 and I fixed breakfast. At breakfast my husband said 'I don't think I am going to work' and then we went in the front room and sat down."

"A little later the children got up and came down stairs. I asked him if he was sick and he said he didn't feel good. He repeated, 'I am not going to work,' then got up and went outside. I asked Timothy where he went and he looked out the window and saw his father getting the guns out of the car and starting back to the house."

"When he came in I asked him what was the matter and he said 'I'm going to kill all of you.' Timothy began pleading with his daddy and I asked him what was wrong and told him not to do that. I started to grab the gun as he shot and it hit Timothy. I yelled for Patty to run to the Osborne's (Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Osborne, 306 East Howard) and call for the police and help."

"As Patty ran out the front door, he turned the gun toward her and I grabbed it as it went off and the shot missed her. (The shot went through the frame of the screen about five feet in the air and over the head of the child.) He dropped a third shell on the floor and I grabbed it and kept it away from him and he totally ran out the front door. Before I got out, he began hitting Timothy with the butt of the gun and it broke, then he started out back."

The shot from the gun struck Timothy in the back and tore loose flesh in the forearm, apparently as the boy lifted his arm to try and defend himself. It appeared, it was reported, as if the full blast missed the boy, but pellets struck him in the back along the left arm, apparently knocking him down. It was believed the blows on the back of his head, inflicted when struck by the butt of the gun, killed the youth. One blow was at the base of the brain.

When he shot himself, Carnes held the rifle at an angle and the bullet struck him below the right ear lobe and ranged upward, coming out the top of his head just to the right of the crown.

Continuing, Mrs. Carnes said her husband was acting rather peculiar about two or three weeks ago. "He didn't eat very much and did not have much to say. However, I didn't think there was anything wrong other than he might not be feeling well. But he didn't complain. We were getting along all right and had no financial problems."

Mrs. Earl Manuel, route 1, sister of Mr. Carnes, and her husband, arrived a few minutes later, having been summoned by neighbors. Mr. Manuel reported that Mr. and Mrs. Carnes and the two children had stayed at their home Saturday night. Sunday, he said, Carnes helped him with some of the chores about the farm, but appeared to be all right. He also said Carnes didn't thing unusual was that Carnes didn't eat like he always had.

Carnes had been working at the Parkhurst Manufacturing Co., on West Highway 50, for the past five years. Last week he left the employment of Parkhurst and went with the National Manufacturing and Engineering Co., on East 16th. At Parkhurst's they said Carnes was a steady worker and appeared to be all right up to the time he left there last Tuesday. At his new employment, fellow workers reported Carnes seemed to be all right and talked and joked with them the three days he had been working there.

Saturday he returned to Parkhurst's to collect salary due him and he said he couldn't work on Saturdays there, but was informed the place wasn't working on Saturdays. It was reported he seemed well at that time. However, he did tell Robert Parkhurst, the owner, that sickness was his reason for not returning to work last Wednesday. He also told Parkhurst he had gone to work for the new company in Sedalia. He was a painter by trade.

Dr. Stauffacher, after viewing the bodies and conducting an investigation, said an inquest was not necessary.

The bodies were then taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home. Mr. and Mrs. Carnes and their children came to Sedalia in 1948 from Richland, Mo., and have since been residing here.

Timothy Gene was born in Richland on March 14, 1940. He was a seventh grade student in Jefferson School. The boy was active in school work and played softball with the school team.

The father was born at Richland on Nov. 14, 1915, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Carnes. He attended the public schools at Richland.

In May, 1938, he was married to Miss Neva Lucas at Camden, and they continued to reside in Richland until coming to Sedalia eight years later.

Surviving are the widow and mother, Mrs. Neva Carnes, and the daughter and sister, Patricia Ann.

Also surviving Mrs. Carnes are her parents of Richland, two brothers, Lee and Burdette Carnes, both of Richland.

May Change Bookmobile Schedules

The bookmobile has just completed its first entire schedule and the staff finds that there will be a number of minor changes in time and in some instances in the entire route.

Although the children used the library almost 100 per cent, few adults met the bookmobile on its first trip. After Christmas the supply of books should be more adequate and it is hoped that those who like to read will find the material by meeting the bookmobile or by using the headquarters libraries in the court-house at Booneville and Sedalia. Although only one book was allowed per child and two for adults during this month, 4,812 books were circulated. This does not include the Booneville library.

State aid for libraries was written into the constitution for Missouri. Booneville Regional Library is profiting by that state aid since new libraries receive an establishment grant in addition to a very small per capita grant. The second quarterly check of $2,229.45 was just received. This will be used in the purchase of books for the region. New ones are being received every week.

Films Available
Films are available for the free use of groups and organizations in the region. These are 16mm sound film and will be sent out of the Sedalia office. Man Who Sent First SOS 50 Years Ago Is Looking Forward

NEW YORK — The man who sent the first SOS from an American ship just 50 years ago today isn't looking backward. He's looking ahead to a bright new day when electronics will run your life.

He is Ludwig Arnsen, a young man of 70 who is fit as a fiddle and tuned to the great things he sees coming to American life soon.

But he concedes: "I don't see why anybody would have wanted to live in any time except these past 50 wonderful years."

Fifty years ago today the American-registered ship Koonland bound from Antwerp to New York with 150 passengers hit a terrific westerly gale off the Irish coast which smashed her rudder. In vain the crew tried to rig a jury rudder in the pounding seas. The Koonland wallowed helplessly. Then the skipper ordered his young wireless operator, Ludwig Arnsen, to send out the distress signal—known then as a CQD.

The British cruiser Kent picked up Arnsen's signal 35 miles away, took her under tow and brought her into Cobh. So Arnsen made American maritime history.

A New York youth who'd seen a request for wireless operators on a bulletin board at Columbia University, he made several other voyages before coming ashore. On land he worked for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of America from New York to Alaska.

In 1906 Arnsen approved the hiring of an office boy at $3 a week. That boy was David Sarnoff, today chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America.

In 1922 Arnsen founded his own electronics manufacturing company on a $2,000 shoestring. Today, as president of Radio Receptor Co., Inc., he has 1,500 employees in his Brooklyn plant and does an 18-million-dollar-a-year business.

"But maybe the next 50 years will be even more interesting than the past 50," says Arnsen, smiling. Looking into the near future he foresees electronics doing these things:

For wrist watch wearers—perfect time and no more winding. Your watch will be kept wound by signals from a central station to which it will be tuned.

For auto drivers—practically no more accidents. When the sign says 50 miles an hour, you won't be able to go 55. A beam to which your motor is tuned will control it. When the sign says "stop," your car will be automatically slowed until it stops. And there won't be a thing you can do about it. For secretaries—no more dictation from the boss. He'll be able to talk into a machine which will not even type his immortal words. They'll come out in printed pages. So the boss will have to perfect his English.

For file clerks—no more bulky files. When you want to know something you'll press a button of a memory-device machine and the machine will tell you all about it. For the whole country—no more fire alarm systems. Through a central electronic scope a watcher will be able to see a fire starting anywhere within his range. He'll be able to pinpoint right down to your backyard.

"Yes," says Arnsen, "it will be a wonderful, exciting world."

Attorney's Son Takes Own Life After Loneliness

PORTLAND, Ore. — Bartley Crum Jr., son of the prominent California attorney, shot himself to death yesterday, the coroner reported.

The 18-year-old youth's body was discovered by a schoolmate in a private home where they roomed. He apparently fired a rifle bullet into his forehead.

Young Crum, a student at Reed College here, was described by the coroner as having been "nervous and lonely."

But his father, who was in San Francisco on a speaking tour, said he was unable to explain his son's action. "I saw him only last week and he appeared in good spirits," the attorney said.

"Who could tell if he was troubled? Parents would be the last to know of those things."

Later, speaking at a banquet for Jewish National Fund, Crum said: "The future of man rests with a little segment of the world in Palestine. In honor of my son, I pledge 1,000 trees to be planted there."

Crum learned of his son's death only 30 minutes before the banquet. The audience, when told later of the youth's death, started a fund for a memorial forest in Israel.

Truck and Bus Operators Told To Give Service

St. LOUIS—Truck and bus operators were urged today to keep public service paramount in their thinking, planning and actions in order to maintain the increasing public acceptance and good will they have been gaining in recent years.

George E. Powell of Kansas City, president of the Missouri Bus and Truck Association, addressing more than 500 members on the final day of the organization's two-day annual meeting, said that the bus and truck industry is making definite progress in its public relations and that an increasing number of companies are realizing the importance of public good will and good relations with employees.

He urged member operators to take a more active part in the association's public relations program to offset the "half truths and misrepresentations concerning motor carrier transportation" which he said the public and legislators have been besieged.

"Our basic job, the speaker said, is to tell the true facts about the industry. Trucking is the second largest industry in this state, with approximately 200,000 persons employed here in Missouri. So we have the manpower to bring about a better understanding of the industry." In urging better financial support for the association's public relations program, he asserted that it is impossible to operate effectively to overcome the lack of knowledge or break down the general disinterest of the public with the "severely limited" funds available.

Mrs. Talmadge Gets Paved Road

ATLANTA — Mrs. Herman Talmadge, the wife of Georgia's governor, finally got her road paved.

Back in 1948, gubernatorial candidate H. Talmadge was promising Georgians he would build 10,000 miles of highway if elected. Charging past administrations with road favoritism, Talmadge roared from the campaign stump.

"I promise you this: that the last road in Georgia to be paved will be the one beside my farm home."

He was elected and eventually his administration built the 10,000 miles of paved roads. Mrs. Talmadge asked him for her road, connecting his farm at Lovejoy to a highway. The governor paid no attention.

Then Mrs. Talmadge decided to play politics herself. At a dinner one night she approached three Highway Board members. They were in the middle, between the governor and the First Lady. They alibied and stalled.

Finally, Mrs. Talmadge decided to skip state government and try local sources. She mentioned the matter to her representative, Ed McGarity.

Yesterday, as she drove back to the executive mansion from the farm in a pouring rain, Mrs. Talmadge beamed. She drove over a paved road. The quarter-mile strip had been paved with county funds. Mrs. Talmadge is a taxpayer in Henry County.

With a smirk she sent this message to the stalling State Highway Board dominated by her husband: "It can be abolished for all I care."

Dads Provide Fun Program For SCHS PTA

The Dads Night of Smith-Cotton PTA, held Thursday night, was one of real entertainment when the men took over and dressed in women's clothing and put on a program that brought plenty of laughs.

Lee Johnson, with all his "feminine charms," was the blues singer and with him was a quartet composed of Johnny Rush, Kenneth Campbell, Kenneth Anderson and Donald Donath. No one could have told that the singing was being done by Lady Lee and his quartet. A record was played with the group doing pantomime.

Fred Brummet was master of ceremonies and one of the features was a square dancing act with Jimmy Anderson, Kenneth Campbell, Leonard Hall, Gene Patrick, Johnny Rush, Kenneth Anderson, Wes Murphy and Mr. Brummet.

Four of the eight men were the lovely "ladies" and the twirling and whirling was to the extent that now and then their dainty "undies" could be seen as they whirled.

The music was furnished by Mrs. Donald Donath and Lee Johnson with Donald Donath doing the calling.

Another quartet sang several numbers, Kenneth Farley, Aubrey Case, Ralph Hodges and Dean Binderup.

Schedule New Talks on N. Y. Paper Strike

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Union photo-engravers today called a membership meeting for Wednesday in their 10-day old strike against six major New York City daily newspapers.

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators came out of surprise talks with union representatives early today and then scheduled new negotiations in the 10-day-old strike against six major daily newspapers.

Walter A. Magglio, general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called the talks after meeting last night with representatives of the AFL Allied Printing Trades Council, whose members have been refusing to cross picket lines set up by the AFL International Photo-engravers Union.

The photoengravers struck the newspapers in a dispute over wages and other contract issues. About 400 photoengravers are involved, and their picket lines have idled 20,000 employees belonging to the CIO American Newspaper Guild and the pressmen's, stereotypers', printers' and mailers' affiliates of the printing trades council, and other unions.

Yesterday brought two key developments in the strike: 1. Resumption of publication by the New York Herald Tribune, the only one of the city's major newspapers not involved in the engravers' dispute. The Herald Tribune, which stopped publication a week ago in sympathy with the other papers, put out address Sunday and Monday editions of eight pages each.

2. Spirited activity among representatives of both sides as mediators twice scheduled joint negotiations which did not materialize. In both cases it developed that officials of various unions involved were meeting secretly and unexpectedly with Magglio and other mediators.

The disputants first had been scheduled to meet at 10 a.m. yesterday. Publisher representatives waited for more than three hours before learning that union officials had been meeting privately, at least for part of the time with federal conciliators.

Denis M. Burke, head of the striking engravers' local, was told the purpose of the meeting. He gave only this cryptic remark: "For good."

The mediators then met separately with subcommittees of the two sides, and in early evening Magglio said the full committees would resume talks at 10 p.m.

Again publisher representatives appeared. So did some union delegates, including Edward J. Volz, the international president of the engravers' union. However, the mediators and Burke again were absent without explanation.

Early today Magglio revealed that he had been meeting with officials of the Allied Printing Trades Council. He said Burke was present but declined to say whether the newspaper guild was represented.

Marian Year Opens Today

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A joyful noon-day pealing led by the big master bell of St. Peter's basilica today marked the start of the Marian year to honor the Mother of Jesus.

One by one, the bells of Rome's nearly 500 churches joined in the 15-minute melody.

Roman Catholics throughout the world will observe the Marian year, the 100th anniversary of the dogma that proclaimed Mary's Immaculate Conception. This established as Roman Catholic faith the belief that Mary was born without the stain of original sin to which all other men are heir because of the disobedience of Adam and Eve.

Midnight services everywhere, where Catholics tonight will begin a year-long crusade of prayers and pilgrimages, called by Pope Pius.

One of the principal objectives for which Catholics will pray is "universal and sincere peace."

Find Scholl Guilty In Attempted Bank Robbery In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Circuit Court jury, deliberating a little more than two hours, found William F. Scholl, 28-year-old Chicagoan, guilty of first degree robbery in the attempted $141,000 holdup of a St. Louis bank last spring.

Scholl, wounded in the April 24 raid on the Southwest Bank in which one bandit was fatally wounded and another killed himself, was sentenced to 25 years in the state penitentiary.

The state had sought the death penalty under Missouri law which rules first degree robbery punishable by a sentence ranging from five years imprisonment to death.

They are selling good looks and social poise for 70 cents an hour to dateless damsels.

Calling themselves the Citywide Escort Service, they hope their business venture will prove the answer to a desperate need for prevailing rates for coke dates, dances, bridge, coffee or tea drinking, or any other social gathering.

The boys—Gaylord Ortmann, Hennessy, Okla., sophomore, Joe Perry, El Reno, Okla., senior, Dave Bergdahl, junior from Skandia, Mich., and Jerry Herrin, Meno, Okla., freshman, also from Skandia—guarantee the young ladies a date they will be proud of, well-mannered, well-dressed, well-read, well.

They're available at a moment's notice to fill in for a girl whose date has suddenly come down with double pneumonia. They believe these emergencies will constitute the bulk of their business—which hasn't been booming yet but proves promising.

The boys announced their arrival on the Oklahoma A&M social scene with an ad that read: "Girls, don't panic. An escort is as close as your telephone."

Here's the way their system works: Customers get the use of one of four cars—their choice. The first 20 miles are free and a nominal charge of 3 cents a mile is added thereafter. Cigarettes, the customer's brand, are free. Rates start at 70 cents an hour for single dates with lower rates for double, triple or quadruple dates.

Phones at the Citywide Escort Service have been ringing since the ad appeared with more requests from pranksy men students than customers. But it's no laugh for the four young partners, who claim: "We're in it strictly for the dough."

Accidents

Occupants of two cars, in a collision at Main and Missouri about 2:08 a.m. Sunday, escaped injury but both cars were damaged.

One car, a 1949 Kaiser sedan, was driven south on Missouri by Virgil L. Winslow, Sweet Springs, and the other, a 1932 Buick touring sedan was driven by Sgt. Wallace Martin, Sedalia Air Force Base, who was headed east.

The front end of the Kaiser was badly damaged while the left front side of the Buick was smashed.

Okla. A&M Men Sell Dates To Girls at 70 Cents Hour

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Chivalry, dead for years, has been pushed about six feet deeper into the ground by four Oklahoma A&M College undergraduates who decided to trade the Air Lancelot idea for a fast dollar.

They are selling good looks and social poise for 70 cents an hour to dateless damsels.

Calling themselves the Citywide Escort Service, they hope their business venture will prove the answer to a desperate need for prevailing rates for coke dates, dances, bridge, coffee or tea drinking, or any other social gathering.

The boys—Gaylord Ortmann, Hennessy, Okla., sophomore, Joe Perry, El Reno, Okla., senior, Dave Bergdahl, junior from Skandia, Mich., and Jerry Herrin, Meno, Okla., freshman, also from Skandia—guarantee the young ladies a date they will be proud of, well-mannered, well-dressed, well-read, well.

They're available at a moment's notice to fill in for a girl whose date has suddenly come down with double pneumonia. They believe these emergencies will constitute the bulk of their business—which hasn't been booming yet but proves promising.

The boys announced their arrival on the Oklahoma A&M social scene with an ad that read: "Girls, don't panic. An escort is as close as your telephone."

Here's the way their system works: Customers get the use of one of four cars—their choice. The first 20 miles are free and a nominal charge of 3 cents a mile is added thereafter. Cigarettes, the customer's brand, are free. Rates start at 70 cents an hour for single dates with lower rates for double, triple or quadruple dates.

Adenauer Approves Text of Allied Note Accepting Soviet Bid

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today approved the text of the Allied note to Moscow accepting a Soviet bid for a four-power conference.

A German official spokesman gave no hint as to the contents of the note.

Passengers, Crew Sweat Out 350 Miles In Plane

HONOLULU (AP)—Forty-two passengers and crew aboard a four-engine plane sweated out 350 miles of wobbly, tense flight to a tiny Pacific island yesterday after an engine explosion crippled their engine.

The passengers donned life jackets and sat calmly for almost three hours as the big Pan American plane limped to safety at Johnston Island, 700 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The plane was at 10,000 feet 350 miles northwest of Johnston when a blast shattered one propeller and ripped through its engine.

Capt. Edward G. Kelley of San Jose, Calif., told the story in a radiotelephone interview from Johnston: "We went from 10,000 to 5,500 feet very rapidly... completely out of control, but we managed to right the airplane."

"It sounded like an explosion although there was no fire. We had very little warning, less than 60 seconds."

"We had difficulty keeping on course but the last of the flight it was much better... We finally held at 2,300 feet for the last couple of hours."

"The passengers were very calm... every member of the crew performed perfectly."

The airliner was flying from San Francisco via Honolulu to Tokyo, Hong Kong and Kachhi.

The big plane finally landed at 5:33 a. m. Asked what his first thought was, Kelley replied: "Thank God! I wish my farm was big enough to support me."

India and Western Powers Agree On UN Recess Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India and the Western powers agreed today on a plan for an indefinite recess of the U. N. General Assembly later this week without a debate on the Korean peace conference.

Under the compromise plan, worked out over the weekend, the president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, would be authorized to reconvene the assembly, with the concurrence of a majority of the 60 members, when she felt Korean developments warranted action.

The new plan drops any reference to a specific date for reconvening the Indian resolution submitted last week called for resumption of the session on Feb. 9 or thereafter.

The Korean question is the last item of business before the 60-nation Political Committee.

India's Chief Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon has indicated he might want to make a statement about the prisoner-of-war question, but has agreed there should be no general debate on the peace conference while U. S. Special Ambassador Arthur Dean continues his talks with the Communists at Panmunjom.

The assembly now expects to recess on Wednesday or Thursday.

White House Gets 17,629 Telegrams On McCarthy Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said shortly before noon today that 17,629 telegrams and an uncounted volume of mail had come in as a result of the appeal by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the public ask President Eisenhower to halt U.S. aid to free world nations which trade with Red China.

Assistant White House press secretary Murray Snyder said he understood Western Union has a backlog of telegrams possibly totaling 1,700 or more.

Snyder told reporters the telegrams have come in so fast it has been impossible to break them down into those which favor McCarthy's China trade demand and those who support the President's stand.

Meanwhile, Republican congressional leaders maintained discreet silence in the Eisenhower-McCarthy controversy.

$6,000 Robbery At Laramie Store

LARAMIE (AP)—Six-thousand-dollars was taken from a grocery store here Saturday night in what state highway patrolmen say is a pattern similar to other burglaries in this section of the state recently.

The patrol said entrance was gained by cutting a hole in the roof. Nitroglycerine was used on the safe.

Renew Battle To Let Negro Into Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for Negro parents in Virginia and South Carolina today renew before the Supreme Court the long legal battle to open all public schools to all children regardless of race.

They hope to win a decision that segregation of Negro and white pupils is a harmful discrimination violating the Constitution. No decision is likely for several months.

Thurgood Marshall, New York City attorney who represents the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), in opening the debate before the nine justices, is prepared to assert in essence:

"Candor requires recognition that the plain purpose and effect of segregated education is to perpetuate an inferior status for Negroes which is America's sorry heritage from slavery."

John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, is prepared to reply on behalf of South Carolina:

"The right to establish separate schools for white and colored pupils—under the doctrine of separate but equal facilities—has been so repeatedly approved by the Supreme Court, by lower federal courts, and by the courts of last resort of many states, and has been so continuously exercised by congressional and state legislation, that it should be regarded as no longer open to debate."

Next, the Justice Department—presenting the views of the Eisenhower administration—will argue that the "primary and pervasive purpose of the 14th Amendment was to secure for Negroes full and complete equality before the law and to abolish all legal distinctions based on race and color."

The 14th Amendment was adopted after the Civil War, primarily for the benefit of the newly freed slaves. It says no state may deny any person due process and equal protection of the laws, nor abridge any person's privilege or immunity.

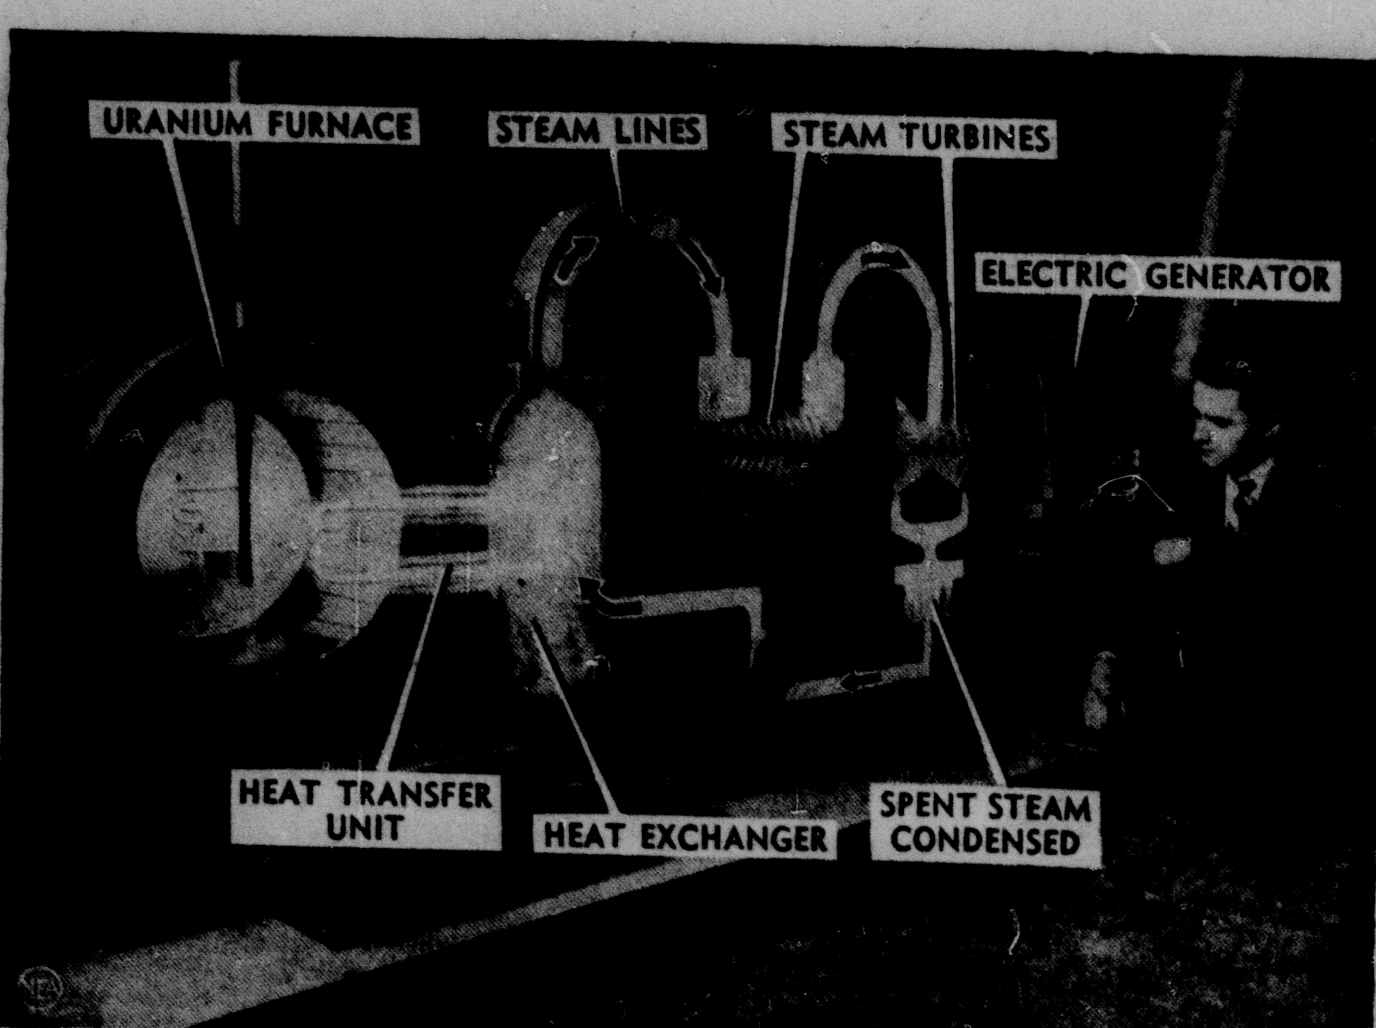

Today marks the beginning of three days of reargument called for by the high court last June. First arguments were heard over a three-day period last December but the court was unable to reach a decision.

In addition to Virginia and South Carolina, Kansas and Delaware and the District of Columbia are directly involved. The Virginia and South Carolina cases were consolidated for reargument. The other cases will follow them.

The general assumption has been that any final decision against segregation would mean the end of separation of the races in public schools throughout the United States. Virginia says the custom of segregation is followed by one third of the nation.

South Carolina provided this list of states which like itself have laws requiring school segregation: Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

South Carolina listed New Mexico, Wyoming and Kansas as

DESIGN FOR ATOMIC POWER—A simplified explanation of how the atomic power plant for the nation's first atom-powered sub will operate is offered by this model "mock-up," designed by Westinghouse, and placed on display in New York. When installed in the U.S.S. Nautilus, heat generated by splitting of the atom will be transmitted by fluid in a sealed, coiled pipe, to a "heat exchanger," or boiler. Steam will be formed in the water-filled boiler, pass through piping to the steam turbine, which will drive an electric generator to power the sub's electric motors. Spent steam will be condensed, pumped back to the heat exchanger. Demonstrating the power plant is Robert Dollison.

Suggests You Catch 'Bess'— Offers New 'Miracle Disease' Everybody Can Enjoy For 1954

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Science labors to bring forth a new miracle drug every day, but my aims are more modest.

All I want to do is give mankind a new miracle disease every few years, a disease everybody can enjoy.

The trouble with a miracle drug seems to be that as soon as it whips one disease it sometimes gives you two other diseases that require the discovery of two more new miracle drugs to cure. How long can this go on?

That's the nice thing about my new miracle disease for the current season. No modern miracle drug has any effect on it, but the disease itself, if treated properly, will prevent you from catching more serious, disabling ailments.

In this respect it is like the common cold or virus X, two fine old miracle diseases that have lost their social usefulness because people now suspect you are lying if you claim you have them and stay home from work. Nothing states having laws which permit segregation.

The Justice Department told the Supreme Court in a preliminary brief that "some Southern leaders have expressed the view that considerable popular opposition will be met in the execution of any program for integration of public schools."

"In their opinion," the brief said, "separation of the races in the schools is one of the ways of life in the South. They predict that popular antagonism to elimination of segregation, arising from a traditional hostility to the mingling of the races, will most likely be reflected in withdrawal of state aid for those schools."

"On the other hand, the conviction has been expressed that these fears are exaggerated and unjustified, and that there is no reason to assume that once this court has authoritatively resolved the constitutional question, the people of the entire country, including the South, will not abide by its decision."

Gov. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia has declared that a Supreme Court decision to end segregation would be "nothing less than a major step toward national suicide." He has said repeatedly that Georgia would revert to a private school system if segregated schools were outlawed. Preliminary legislation has been passed by the State Legislature.

Negro Churches Hold Services To Pray For Segregation's End

ATLANTA (AP)—Negro churches throughout Atlanta held special services yesterday to pray that the U. S. Supreme Court will outlaw segregation in public schools.

The Atlanta branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sponsored the services.

Want a delicious sandwich spread? Mash sardines and flavor with a little minced onion and catchup or Worcestershire sauce. Minced chicken and minced sauteed mushrooms moistened with mayonnaise also make a delectable spread.

wears out a miracle disease like suspicion.

That is why I suggest you catch my new miracle disease—Boyle's Epidemic Spasmodic Seizure, or Bess for short—as soon as possible. Get its benefits now. It can't last long in a world where every man doubts the other fellow's symptoms and suspects his motives.

To give credit where credit is due, I got the idea for Bess from Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, the internationally known physician.

Dr. Alvarez in a recent article described a new ailment which he himself had suffered from called The Devil's Grip. It is characterized by a terrible back pain, headache, chill, shivering, nausea and dizziness.

The title, The Devil's Grip, drew me at once. It was just the kind of attention-attracting name I needed for my new miracle disease of 1953-1954. But after all, it is a real disease, and who wants one of those?

Life today periodically gives everyone a terrific pain in the neck, however, and who doesn't also shiver, feel dizzy and nauseated in these times? This results in boredom, and causes a tired, rundown feeling that can best be cured by a comfortable siege of brooding in bed.

So I thought of naming my new successor to virus X and the common cold False Devil's Grip. But I decided "false" would keep it from widespread popularity.

Then I sounded out such names as Hellburr Wrap, Angel Fever, purgatory Flutters and Wishbone Cramp. Somehow they didn't quite ring true. Throwing modesty aside, I decided to name my new miracle disease after its discoverer, which would give it a ring of authenticity.

How can you tell when you have Boyle's Epidemic Spasmodic Seizure—or Bess? Well, Bess has exactly the same symptoms as the common cold or virus X except for two things. Your nose doesn't run, and you yawn often from an overwhelming sense of ennui.

You go to bed when it hits you and you recover from Bess when you get tired of it. You treat it by eating an old vitamin-packed miracle drug known as beefsteak whenever you are hungry.

Bess is a protective disease. It will protect you from pneumonia, overwork, or boring cocktail parties. It will protect you from being hit by a taxicab. What other miracle disease can make these claims?

Be the first in your crowd to catch Bess. Win the social acclaim and respect that reward anyone who is the first to fall victim of a strange, fascinating, mysterious and comfortable ailment. It won't be long until some jealous termite in our society passes the word around.

"Have you noticed how much Boyle's Epidemic Spasmodic Seizure resembles what we used to call laziness?"

Then we'll have to discover a new miracle disease.

Young Hoodlums Beat Executive Fatally In Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gang of youthful hoodlums beat a wealthy manufacturer to death in the heart of downtown Los Angeles last night when he attempted to aid a Marine who was being attacked by the gang.

The victim was William D. Cluff, of Hollywood, owner of the Western Chemical & Manufacturing Co., producers of asbestos products.

Police said the youths ganged up on the Marine, Pfc. John W. Moore, 18, of Camp Pendleton, Calif., at the intersection of Seventh and Broadway. Moore said he was nudged in the back and when he turned one of the hoodlums snarled, "Have you got a beef, or something?"

Then Moore was slugged and the battle moved into the street. Witnesses said Cluff, who was window-shopping while waiting to keep an appointment with his wife, called out, "Leave that Marine alone."

With this four others leaped from a nearby car and about nine youths swarmed over Cluff, beating him and knocking him to the curb. Officers said his head hit

Merry-Go-Round Bermuda Conference Nipping Malenkov's Game In The Bud

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Though the Bermuda conference was called partly because of the accidental fact that Winston Churchill insisted on a Big Four meeting with Malenkov and because Bermuda was a semi-substitute, actually this accident came at just the right time.

For the Russians were beginning to score some hits in their game of pulling the Allies apart. The Bermuda meeting, therefore, is giving an opportunity to patch up the old alliance.

Here are some illustrations of how the Russians were playing the game of divide and rule:

1. Moscow proposed a nonaggression pact between Russia and France.

Why join the United European army and tolerate the danger of German rearmament? The Kremlin has argued. Why not sign a non-aggression pact with Russia thereby completely removing the danger of war? This has a lot of appeal in Paris, first, because the Communist party is powerful in France; second, because the United European Army is, of course, aimed at blocking a Red army invasion.

2. Ambassador Bohlen has cabled the state department that the Kremlin has been ardently wooing the British. The other day Premier Malenkov made the unprecedented move of asking British Ambassador Sir William Hayter to come to the Kremlin for an impromptu visit. Malenkov gave the ambassador only 30 minutes notice so he didn't have time to cable his government for instructions.

Tea In The Kremlin

However, at the Kremlin, the two had a friendly chat, at which Malenkov turned on all his charm, told Hayter that Britain could lead the world if it didn't persist in tying itself to the apron strings of the United States.

The ambassador reported back to London that Malenkov was a man his government could do business with; that he was sure Churchill would be welcomed royally if he goes to Moscow alone.

Simultaneously, Lady Hayter was invited to tea by Mrs. Molotov, wife of the deputy premier. This is almost unheard of in the Russian capital, but was new evidence of how the Russians are playing the policy of trying to divide and rule.

These are some of the things Churchill, Eisenhower and Laniel are trying to counteract by personal conversations. For there is nothing like personal, across - the - table, face-to-face contact to improve diplomatic relations.

French Rivals

The French delegation at Bermuda is not a happy one. Premier Laniel is scarcely talking to his foreign minister, Georges Bidault. Laniel and Bidault are rival candidates for president of France in the elections scheduled for December 17. And each is afraid the other is going to steal the publicity spotlight at Bermuda just before the balloting begins. Premier Laniel, however, seems to have the inside track.

Dulles On McCarthy

John Foster Dulles' blast at Joe McCarthy and Eisenhower's subsequent support are the tipoff that Dulles has decided that from now on he will stand up and fight every time the senator from Wisconsin attacks the State Department and American foreign policy. Dulles has bent overbackward in the past trying to get along with McCarthy and the so-called "Netherland" wing of the Republican party.

In an effort to appease McCarthy, he even went so far as to appoint Scott McLeod, an aide to Senator Bridges but even closer to McCarthy, as his top security officer. But every time he yielded, Dulles found it only encouraged McCarthy to attack the state department harder.

As a result, he is now fed up, has told his friends that he intends to be a fair and decent secretary of state even if it means a fight with McCarthy or anyone else who unfairly criticizes Eisenhower's policies.

Ike Vs. Dulles

It was a lightning mad secretary of state president Eisenhower found waiting for him in Washington when he flew back from Augusta after Thanksgiving. In his hand, Dulles held the statement blasting McCarthy which he later gave to the press.

Ike was a little surprised at first. Down in Augusta he hadn't paid too much attention to the McCarthy broadcast. In the first place, he didn't listen to it over the radio, and the first edition of the New York papers which reached him next morning didn't carry the story, while he didn't read the local Georgia papers.

Most surprising, however, no one in the White House in Washington bothered to send him the text of what McCarthy said. So he was totally unprepared for the rage of his secretary of state.

However, when Dulles explained the implications of the McCarthy attack and showed him a series of cables from U. S. ambassadors reporting that the prestige of the Eisenhower administration had sunk to an all-time low, the president readily agreed not only to the Dulles statement, but to back it up himself.

"Go to it, Foster," he said, "He has it coming to him."

Note—Dulles has been deluged with congratulatory messages since his McCarthy blast. This has reinforced his determination to continue. Meanwhile, McCarthy has dropped word to friends that when the time is ripe he will let loose on Dulles as he never let loose on any other state department official. He expects to bring up Dulles' support for Alger Hiss as president of the Carnegie foundation one year after the first FBI report on Hiss and Harry Dexter White was submitted to the state department.

Thoughts for Today

And his name through faith in his name hath made this man strong, whom ye see and know; yea, the faith which is by him hath given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all.—Acts 3:16.

He that buildeth his nest upon a Divine promise shall find it abide and remain until he shall fly away to the land where promises are lost in fulfillments.—Spurgeon.

Trichinosis Is Considered Danger To National Health

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

A letter recently received from Mrs. C. asks for a discussion of trichinosis, its diagnosis and whether this is usually a fatal disease.

Trichinosis is caused by a tiny animal parasite which is known as Trichinella spiralis. It has been estimated that some 25,000,000 persons in the United States harbor the parasite, and that each year about 350,000 persons acquire new infections.

Apparently most of those who become infected do not show any symptoms, and only about 16,000 persons each year are expected to take enough of the parasites into their systems to cause obvious trouble.

Of those who do develop symptoms, about one in 20 may die. In answer to Mrs. C's other question, the disease is often difficult to diagnose.

The parasites are usually taken into the human system in contaminated pork or pork products. When live trichinae are swallowed in this manner they pass through the wall of the intestines and are carried to the muscles in various parts of the body. Whether or not symptoms will be produced depends on the number in the body.

If large enough numbers of parasites are taken into the system, they may produce nausea and vomiting and watery diarrhea, and sometimes abdominal pain. The worms develop in the intestines, and about the ninth or tenth day after they have been swallowed begin to invade the muscles. They may produce tenderness of the muscles, a reddish rash on the skin, fever, puffiness and swelling of the face.

Be Sure to Cook Pork

Trichinosis is considered to be a rather serious danger to the health of the nation. One of the most important safeguards is to make sure that pork and pork products are thoroughly cooked before eating.

Cooking will destroy the trichinae and make even contaminated meat safe for human consumption. Freezing the meat at 5 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 days also will kill the parasites, and recently there have been some studies on treating pork products by radiation as a method of destroying the trichinae in infected pork.

Thoughtful Good Manners Are Best Beauty Treatment

By Ruth Millett

Tip to women from a book on personality: "Plain everyday good manners that cluster around the idea of being thoughtful and courteous are perhaps the greatest beauty treatment that one can have."

If you don't believe that ask yourself if other women ever look beautiful when you catch glimpses of them behaving in the following ways: Scurrying along in a rush, so absorbed in themselves that they crowd and shove and seem totally unaware they aren't alone in the world; women so absorbed in themselves they never take a moment to hold a door for a woman carrying a baby or loaded down with packages; women who seem not to regard a salesperson as a human being, and women who never realize their own need is no greater than anyone else's.

Another point is being impatient with a small child. No woman in the world can look beautiful yanking a small child by the arm, scowling and threatening each time the child tries to slow her down.

The dissatisfied look of the woman who is complaining about anything from the weather to her own aches and pains is far from attractive.

Other Points That Rob Beauty

Lack of attention to what another person is saying doesn't rate. A look of genuine interest is appealing, but a faraway disinterested look never is.

Being disgruntled over the small annoyances that happen every day takes the serenity from a woman's face. Those who accept trivial upsets as part of everyday living draw others to them. The look of annoyance on the face of the woman who lets small inconveniences upset her makes her anything but appealing.

If any show of selfishness or poor manners makes others look less attractive to you then you can be quite sure that you never look your best when your own manners aren't as good as they could and should be.

Treaty Moves Slowly

Negotiations of a new treaty between the United States and Panama, governing conditions in the Canal Zone, is said to be coming along satisfactorily, but the end is not yet in sight. Negotiations are slowed because so many U. S. government agencies are involved.

There are other problems. Typical is a complaint from Panama merchants about a Panamanian civilian employees of the Canal Zone. As U. S. government employees they are entitled to buy supplies at U. S. commissary stores. If the Panamanians were not allowed this right, and Americans were, it would be discrimination. But one Panamanian may buy supplies for his own family, his father and mother and all his brothers and sisters and their families. That's what irks Panama businessmen.

'President' Tito!

Americans who have been in Yugoslavia recently bring back the word that Tito no longer likes to be called "Marshal Tito." Every time the Americans addressed a remark to "the Marshal" in English, they got back a reply from the interpreter that "President Tito" thought thus and so.

While Tito was allied with the Russian Communists, the highest title that could be given him was, of course, "Marshal," the same title given to Stalin. Now that the head of the Yugoslav government has allied himself with the western democracies and has been proclaimed "President" of his country, he likes the more civilian and less military title.

With more than 300 separate uses, mercury is especially important in the production of munitions.

The World Today— GOP Heads Mum on McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the evident hope that the whole matter will blow over soon, Republican congressional leaders kept discreet silence today in the controversy between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the White House.

It was obvious that some of McCarthy's most influential GOP colleagues agreed privately with his statement that the United States should stop all aid to free world nations which trade with Red China.

But it also was obvious they didn't want to be linked with McCarthy's public challenge to the stand taken by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles that America has no right to dictate countries it helps.

McCarthy called any trade with Red China a "blood trade" and, in a televised plea last Thursday, urged the people who agree to wire or write the President.

The White House was scheduled today to give a new count of telegrams and letters received.

Up until noon Saturday, Asst. Presidential Press Secretary Murray Snyder said, 4,346 telegrams had come in, with 3,500 still to be teletyped from Western Union to the White House.

McCarthy disputed these figures, saying that at the same hour he was informed 8,427 telegrams had been delivered and 4,000 to 6,000 more remained to be transmitted. Snyder said the telegrams ran about 2:1 in favor of McCarthy's position.

Snyder also reported receipt of 1,500 letters and said a breakdown of how these were running would be announced today.

On a radio-TV forum yesterday McCarthy said "both sides" should message their views to the President.

"This is not a popularity contest between Eisenhower and McCarthy," the senator said. "If it were a popularity contest, he (Eisenhower) would win it 20-1."

McCarthy was asked about the Toledo Blade's offer Friday to accept readers' signatures to a letter supporting Eisenhower's stand, as well as to forward replies favoring McCarthy's. By midnight Friday, the paper reported, it had 9,870 for Eisenhower and 324 for McCarthy.

In comment, McCarthy said, "It shows how dishonest a paper can get."

He said the sentiments expressed in the letter to Eisenhower ("We support you before and we do now. We still like Ike") were those he had expressed many times. Yet, he said, the effect was "that anyone who signed that had to be against McCarthy."

In Toledo, Publisher Paul Block Jr. of the Blade said in reply: "Evidently Sen. McCarthy thinks that a newspaper is dishonest if it does not follow his practice of stacking testimony in his favor."

"Sen. McCarthy called only for a one-way vote. The Toledo Blade gave its readers the opportunity to express their opinion as easily one way as the other. What's dishonest about that?"

"The senator started this contest. If he now doesn't want it considered a test of popularity, it can only be because he has not found the results—here in Toledo at least—to his liking."

Another newspaper executive, J. D. Ferguson, president and editor of the Milwaukee Journal, challenged another of McCarthy's statements on the radio-TV forum.

A questioner, who did not give her name, noted McCarthy had accused the Democrats of being "soft toward communism" and asked the senator about a Nov. 10, 1946, interview in the Milwaukee Journal.

The interview, she said, quoted McCarthy as saying that "Stalin's proposal for a world disarmament is a great thing and he must be given credit for being sincere about it."

McCarthy responded, "You are completely incorrect."

He said he did not recall the interview and he described the Milwaukee Journal as "one of my bitter, bitter enemies and I do not give them interviews."

In Milwaukee last night, Ferguson said: "Sen. McCarthy conveniently forgets or denies statements which might now embarrass him."

Ferguson said the Journal carried on Nov. 10, 1946, an interview in which McCarthy was quoted as saying:

"I do not subscribe to the school that says war with Russia is inevitable. I do not believe such a war is in the offing. I believe we can and will avoid it. Russia does not want war and is not ready to fight one."

"Stalin's proposal for world disarmament is a great thing and he must be given credit for being sincere about it."

During the radio-TV questioning yesterday, McCarthy denied he was attacking either Eisenhower or Dulles, or that he was basically in conflict with the President on the question of whether Communism-in-government would be an issue in the 1954 congressional election campaign.

Politicians generally attached little significance to the "tell it to Eisenhower" outpouring of telegrams and letters to the White House.

They said McCarthy had selected an emotional topic and had demonstrated that he could bring a vigorous response from the public. On the other hand, the incident showed Eisenhower maintains his pulling power.

An Associated Press sampling of newspaper editorial comment showed them about 5-1 upholding Eisenhower's position, with about one third of the editorials noncommittal.

THE ANGELS FELL

XXV

HANNAH RAHN and I sat in the back seat of the car while Martha drove. In the darkness I could not see her beside me. I clung to her wrist. Her skin was damp and cold.

A nice girl. A well-brought-up, respectable young woman. A congressman's daughter. The kidnaper of a child.

"Where is he?" I said again.

"You didn't bring the right briefcase," she countered.

Savagely my hand tightened around her wrist. She uttered a thin cry and then cut it off and sat beside me silent and without resistance though I continued to constrict my fingers.

"Pretending she had gone to Washington while she waited for a chance to kidnap Joey!" Martha said, biting out each word.

"She won't be so calm about it in my cellar."

We arrived at Martha's house. When we got out of the car, I grasped Hannah's wrist again. We followed the beam of Martha's flashlight around to the side of the house. We went through the ground-level cellar door. Martha switched on the light.

The cellar was finished in knotty pine and linoleum floor tile. It was warm, heated automatically with the rest of the house when the temperature fell. Martha took off her raincoat and zerkieff and tossed them on the pingpong table and faced Hannah. I dropped Hannah's arm.

"Where is Joey?" Martha demanded.

Hannah pushed her rainhood off and passed a hand over her drawn-back ash-blond hair. She was pale, but there was a piece of a set smile on her mouth, the kind of smile one brings up to fortify courage. She said: "He'll be home a few hours after I have the briefcase."

Martha crossed the cellar to the utility room. In a moment she returned with a short length of clothesline and part of a ragged Turkish towel.

"Take off your coat," she ordered.

Hannah didn't stir.

"Hold her," Martha told me.

I PUT my hands on Hannah's upper arms. She offered no resistance as Martha unbuckled the raincoat belt and opened the buttons. Hannah let me pull the raincoat down over her shoulders and arms. I placed it on the pingpong table.

She wore a red blouse buttoned to her throat and a gray skirt.

Martha handed me the clothesline. "Tie her wrists to that pipe."

I lifted one of Hannah's arms. It was limp, inanimate. I tied one end of the rope around her wrist in a square knot, not as tightly as I could have. I threw the other end over the two-inch water pipe close to the ceiling. Martha held Hannah's other arm up high as I tied that wrist. I left enough slack so that the rope would not bite into her flesh unless she slumped.

She stood with heels flat on the linoleum floor and arms extended straight up. Her smile was gone. Her gaze was inward, appearing to see nothing.

Martha tore a small square from the towel and tried to stuff it into Hannah's mouth. Hannah kept her lips locked and Martha pinched her nose with two fingers. Hannah's cheeks expanded, and then her mouth flew open and Martha shoved the rag between the teeth. Then she tore off a long strip of cloth and hooked it between Hannah's lips and tied it at the back of her neck. The boss, as always, was efficient.

"Paul, are you wearing a belt?" I unbuttoned my raincoat and pulled off my belt. She swung it, buckle down. Hannah didn't look at it.

"I'm going to strip you naked and whip you," Martha said in a curiously matter-of-fact tone. "With the buckle end. You can stop me at any time by nodding your head."

Hannah closed her eyes.

"Wait," I said.

Martha's face was like rock. "I forgot you're a gentleman," she sneered. "Wait upstairs. I don't need you."

The skirt fell in a crumpled heap about the slim legs.

Upstairs the doorbell rang. Persistently the bell rang. I thought of her car outside and the living room lights on. Whoever it was would know that somebody was in.

"I'll get rid of him," I said.

"I think he's gone away."

The ringing had stopped. I started to relax and stiffened again. Overhead feet moved.

I WENT upstairs and found Ben Heim in the living room. "Oh, hello," he said, giving me an engaging, apologetic grin. "I found the door unlocked and walked in."

"Just like that," I said.

He put his lighter to his pipe. "As a matter of fact, you're the one I want to see. You weren't home, so I thought Miss Paley might know where you are. Did the kidnaper get in touch with you yet?"

"No," I said.

"Don't you think you ought to be waiting at home for a message?"

"Is that your business?"

"Uh-huh. The records are involved."

Martha came up. She looked perfectly composed. She greeted the sleuth as if it were a delight to have him call.

"Odd," he observed. "It's over 12 hours since the boy is gone. I expected the kidnaper to make a move long before this."

That was when I heard the sound. It came from the cellar and it was like a remote whimpering.

Shows Silage At the First Pettis Meet

Pettis County's first silage meeting was held last Wednesday afternoon with a lot of interest being shown by every one attending. Reports were given by Tom Yeater, Henry Alt, Forrest Kappelman, Broadus Wiley, Leon Smasal and by Jim Perry for J. H. Carter.

Tom Yeater, route 3, Sedalia, brought in alfalfa silage from a permanent silo. They had alfalfa at the bottom and finished with oats that had new alfalfa in them. They filled again later with corn silage. It took 11 acres of oats and alfalfa to fill a 135 ton silo and 30 acres of corn to fill a 180 ton one.

The alfalfa was put in in early bloom and the oats in early drought. No preservative was used. Two field choppers were used. Tom liked corn silage best for the milk cows and the alfalfa second. He said they even had to bring their beef steers in off pasture this year and feed it to them. Their grass silage is usually fed out in the summer, but this year they are still feeding it.

Forest Kappelman, La Monte, had a sample of sorgo from their trench silo. They had first filled with corn and had it all fed up by the time the sorgo was ready. It had to be replanted and the second planting was July 2. The silo was filled about October 20th with 20 acres filling the silo. It is 90 feet long, 6 feet deep and an average of 13 feet wide. They had only 30 acres of corn earlier and only got it half full.

Leon Smasal, Spring Fork, had corn silage from a 14x42 permanent silo. The corn was almost ripe so they put water on it as they filled and then set a yard sprinkler on top and let it run for about 13 hours. In fact, they let it run until water started seeping from the bottom.

Even then Leon said it was a little dry next the walls. On the other hand the corn kernels were now soft while they had been hard at filling time so he thought the silage was of good quality. There was some sorgo in the silo too as they had used 10 acres of sorgo and 40 of corn putting in first a layer of one then the other.

Henry Alt, Sedalia, route 1 had corn silage and said he had been using it since 1939. This year's crop was put up in the green dough stage. He has a wooden upright silo. He was asked about sweet clover which he had also used. He liked the sweet clover a little better but said it wouldn't put weight on the cows like oats would.

Fred Meinershagen, extension dairyman, broke in there to say that with legume silages probably little protein was needed but more grain while with oats and corn less grain was needed but more protein supplements.

Broadus Wiley, Houstonia, had a trench silo for the first time and had brought a sample of corn silage from it. The corn had not been planted for the silo, but was put in pretty mature as an emergency measure.

One question he asked was why it was still hot. Meinershagen suggested that since the corn was pretty well matured that it must have been impossible to get a good packing job. Forest Kappelman added that their silo used to always keep the snow melted off. Now they keep a tractor packing continuously and the snow stays on the silo as long as anywhere else.

Wiley said his silo was 45 feet long, 12 feet wide and 4 feet deep. He had covered it with straw and 3 inches of dirt.

J. H. Carter's report was given by Jim Perry, assistant agent. Mr. Carter lives on Highway 52 near Windsor where the ground is too level to do much with a trench silo so his silage was piled on the ground (stock silo) and covered with earth. It was corn silage, put up green on August 8th, and looked very good.

The stack was 40 feet long, 16 feet wide and about 4 feet deep. It was covered with earth with a manure loader, wet down and seeded with oats. Jim said there was only about 4 inches of spoilage.

At the start of the meeting the county agent, Merle Vaughan, had distributed a "Feed and Financial Folder" which is available at the office. It lists a variety of rations for beef and dairy cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry and also has a place to figure feed needs for the next year.

Jim Perry had attended an Outlook Meeting the previous day so came on next to give a little "dope" on the 1954 outlook.

Jim said the price of milk and cream in 1954 probably will average

MEMBERS OF THE STRIPED COLLEGE EXTENSION CLUB, taken at home of Mrs. Montgomery.

Extension Club of the Week

Striped College Homemakers Have Been Busy Doing Things For Many Others

The Striped College Homemakers Club was organized in 1935 at the home of Mrs. F. M. Nicholas. Mrs. Emery Rutt was elected as president for that year.

In 1936 with 22 members, Mrs. O. F. Richardson served as president. At that time Mrs. Claire Montgomery was home agent. Mrs. J. H. Edwards was sent to Washington, D. C., as a delegate to the convention of women's extension clubs. A motion was carried to have a penny drill each month to take care of cards and flowers, etc., which is still being practiced by the club.

In 1937 the membership was increased to 25 women, and a 4-H club was organized.

When the club was first organized there was a different project each month with one member as a project leader. Some of the projects that were studied were: making inexpensive shower baths, improving walls and floors, identification of wild flowers and learning of cosmetics and health.

In 1939 we studied cosmetics, food and drug laws. Demonstrations were given on canning and adjusting patterns and dresses.

The different activities the club has had include a spelling bee, a program at the county home, flower show, sending flowers to the hospital, refreshments to 4-H club, donating food to Melita Day Nursery. Money was given to Red Cross and student loan fund. During the war years the club did lots of knitting, sewing, making comforts and quilts and surgical dressings.

Several of the members took the Red Cross nursing course. We gave cookies to the blood banks and also donated blood to the blood bank.

Our club also made new curtains for the school house. We did sewing for Mercy Hospital. The club gave donations to CROP train, Freedom Train, and sent CARE packages to Europe. We gave food age a little lower than in 1933 and will be greatly influenced by the level at which support prices on dairy products are established.

Demand would be no stronger than in 1953 while milk production would probably be about the same. Storage stocks of dairy products are at an all time high, he reported.

SCRAMBLED CALVES BRING MONEY An annual event at the Fryeburg, Me., Fair is the "Calf Scramble," where the so-called calves are actually six-month-old steers. Each of the teenage participants, armed with a piece of rope, tries to capture a steer and bring him to the winner's circle. With this accomplished the contestant gets to keep the calf, and feed and care for him for a year. At the next fair, the animals are auctioned off and the captor gets to keep the money, which at times amounts to $1000.

The Pettis Beef Producers Assn. Meets Thursday

The third annual meeting of the Pettis County Beef Producers Association will be held in the Assembly Room of the Courthouse at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 17. C. S. Arnold of La Monte is president and Tom Ream of Hughesville, vice-president.

Business to be taken up at the meeting includes election of three directors who will serve for three terms, and voting on several proposed changes of the by-laws.

A financial report will be given by the treasurer, B. C. Claycomb. Reports will also be given on the recent state meeting at Columbia. Pettis County was the only one of 38 sales in the state to be represented there by the entire nine-man board.

The 1954 sale is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 18, and consignment blanks will be available at the meeting to list cattle for the 1954 sale. According to the by-laws new members can vote and hold office if they have consigned cattle to the sale and have paid their consignment fee of $2 per head.

Present association board members besides Arnold, Ream and Claycomb include: Clay Leftwich, Hughesville; W. P. Nicholson, La Monte and R. S. Haggard, J. W. Rissler, Pierre Lamy and H. A. Cook of Sedalia routes.

We are proud to say our 4-H club has won the Dorothy Bacon Plaque the last three years.

We think our club is very worthwhile. We look forward to our meeting day. Our attendance at the meetings is always very good.

REA, Extension Office Sponsor Welding Meet

The welding meeting held last week under the sponsorship of the Extension Office and the local REA was well attended. It even included the welding class members from the vocational agriculture department of the Green Ridge High School, who came over with their instructor, Bob Denker.

In spite of the good attendance several folks did not get there who had indicated earlier that they planned to do so. Because of this, George Ray is planning to quiz their membership in the next news letter and see if they want the meeting repeated.

Herman Hall, extension agricultural engineer, and Prof. McKibben, who were here from the University of Missouri, said they would be glad to return at a later date if there was sufficient interest.

Balanced Farming Notes

Sawford Rises Sufficient Feed

All over Missouri stories are being reported of the small percentage of Balanced Farming Association members that needed to buy feed to go thru the on-coming winter. The big reason for this is that a feed supply plus a safe margin was planned for the livestock on the farm. At the same time livestock numbers were not allowed to strip the productive capacity of the farm.

We heard a report at the Silage Meeting Wednesday that in Buchanan County only 3 farmers who had been in the Balanced Farming Association there would need to buy feed this winter. Of course, that is not Pettis County, but William Sawford of Ottumwa, who is a former member of the Pettis County Association, was in the office some time ago talking of buying more cattle.

We have 80 head of cattle Mr. Sawford said, and haven't needed to sell any. Feed on hand included 35 tons of oat straw, 30 tons of hay and 175 tons of corn silage. Sawford also reported that their springs were supplying an abundance of water. He felt that the fact that they always kept them cleaned out was one of the reasons.

Greer has Good Corn Again Last week J. W. Greer of near Longwood brought me the 2 largest and hardest ears of corn I have seen this year. The corn was from a 5 acre field on Heaths Creek that made at least 80 bushels per acre for the second straight year. When asked how long the field had been in corn, he said 71 years.

I looked at him kind of hard at that statement so he grinned and explained. Seems he bought the place in 1911 and the former owner claimed he had cleared it out in 1882 and had it in corn every year since. Mr. Greer has done similarly so there were the 71 years.

The corn was planted the last week in May and received little rain except about 2 inches the 3rd of August. All his fertilizer had been plowed under including 150 pounds of mixed goods and about 250 pounds of 20-12 percent Nitro lime.

He had another 11 acres that made about 68 bushels per acre. It had received 150 pounds nitro lime and 100 pounds of 12-12-12. On the other hand, a 6 acre field of red clover sod really fooled him. The field was manured and fertilized with 300 pounds of nitro lime and 200 pounds of 10-20-0. The corn spacing was about 11 inches apart in the row or with normal weather enough for 95 bushels per acre.

Of course, the season wasn't

Alfalfa, Sweet Clover Come Thru

Dick Shelton of St. Louis who commutes back and forth to his 600 acre Hughesville farm every couple of weeks was in Tuesday to check on his lime and fertilizer needs for next year. Dick has used about 1500 pounds of rock phosphate per acre along with adequate lime and now has about all his phosphate tests running well over 200 while the PH range on his lime tests is around 6.

This high fertility level probably explains why his alfalfa and sweet clover both survived the summer drought. The alfalfa was seeded with oats and was cut for hay about June 1. The sweet clover was on wheat that made about 22 bushels per acre. In contrast none of his new red clover survived.

Child Accident Rate Tragic The American Child, published by the National Child Labor Committee, devotes its November issue to the "Season of Tragedy for Youngsters on Farms."

They report 271 young victims. Of these: 148 of the 271 were under 14 years; 71 of the 271 young victims were killed; and that 224 of these children injured in farm accidents and 62 of those killed were working on tractors, most as drivers.

I understand this organization is focusing its attention on farm accidents to children with an idea to having some legislation passed to protect farm children. The National Safety Council is opposed to this idea and recommends that farm people be "educated to protect their children rather than "legislated" to protect them.

Dying Woman Resists Efforts To Seize Nephew

STALEY, N. C. — An aged woman believed dying of cancer still resisted efforts today to get her and her mentally retarded nephew out of their one-room shack.

The 75-year-old widow, Mrs. Mary Mines, has locked herself in and refused all offers of medical aid. W. L. Lednum, police chief of this town about 25 miles south-east of Greensboro, says she has threatened to shoot anyone who tries to enter.

The county sent an ambulance and nurse to her home Saturday but Chief Lednum said Mrs. Mines refused to open the door.

With her is her 36-year-old nephew, George Fox, who Lednum says is unable to feed or dress himself. The police chief says Mrs. Mines once told him she keeps Fox tied with a rope.

Mayor John Staley says that Mrs. Mines promised Fox' mother on her deathbed that she would take care of him all her life.

Mrs. Mines receives about $40 a month in old age assistance, and relatives also help her financially. But they are unwilling to sign papers that would allow authorities to take her by force for treatment.

Big 10 Teams May Help Find Valley Champ

ST. LOUIS — A couple of non-conference opponents, this week may have a lot to do with determining the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race this season.

Both are Big Ten members—Minnesota and Ohio State. They'll provide the first real tests of strength for the Missouri Valley favorites, Oklahoma A&M and St. Louis University.

Minnesota also is host to unbeaten Tulsa tonight.

The Aggies, defending champions, and St. Louis' Billikens looked to have the necessary material last week for another of their title fights. A&M stopped Hardin-Simmons and Texas, allowing a total of 17 points in the two games, and St. Louis swished past a service team, Ft. Leonard Wood (Mo.), 82-64.

Tomorrow night the Bills run up against Ohio State on the St. Louis home floor in a continued engagement with the Buckeyes that has given the Billikens only one victory in four tries. The Aggies go to Minneapolis Thursday night.

The week presents more of a test for A&M than St. Louis, however, with the Aggies scheduled at Texas tonight in a return match. Oklahoma A&M defeated the Southwest Conference member, 54-37, last week. The Aggies also meet Colorado of the Big Seven next Saturday.

With the conference opener still two weeks away, four of the Valley members are unbeaten. Detroit and Wichita, each winning two of three were the first to fall.

Tulsa has won its two games to date, including a 51-50 victory over Arkansas Saturday. Houston managed an 89-88 victory over Sam Houston its only time out.

The rest of the week's schedule: Tonight—Wichita at Portland U. Tuesday: Texas A&M at Portland U. Wednesday—Tulsa at Southern Methodist. Thursday—Detroit at Notre Dame, Alabama at St. Louis, Washburn at Wichita. Friday—Tulsa at New Mexico A&M. Saturday—Youngstown at Detroit, St. Louis at Drake, Houston at Texas, Tulsa at Texas Western, Emporia Teachers at Wichita.

Oregon State, With 73 Star, Is Contender

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Oregon State tried out a 7-foot, 3-inch center over the weekend, and college basketball now can be warned: Look out for Oregon State.

The big boy, Wade (Sweden) Halbrook, showed enough ability against an active University of Hawaii defense to make 19 field goals on 37 tries, and 11 free throws on 14 attempts in leading the Staters to two wins over the Hawaiians.

That was 49 points, an average of 51 per cent in field goal shooting and 78 per cent in free throw converting.

The tallest college player ever to appear in the Pacific Northwest, and one of the tallest anywhere, Halbrook needs only to raise his hand at arm's length to be nearly at hoop height. For basketball-making, he needs only a small jump to be up where he can ram the ball down through the hoop.

He got very few chances to make such goals in his varsity debut. The Hawaiians jammed around him to stop passes to him. They were especially successful at this second night. But that did not stop the big boy. He concentrated on tips-ins of his teammates' shots. The result: 26 points for his teammates, 29 for Halbrook.

What's more, Halbrook—he is 19 and a sophomore—apparently still has growing. He is two inches taller than when he played at a Portland high school, there breaking about every scoring record in sight.

He weighs about 230 pounds, but on a seven-three frame, that is just enough to keep him out of the skinny class. Young and gangling, he often appears awkward.

BOWLING

Three Sedalia teams lost Sunday in match games at Warrensburg, T. and O. Lime and Rock won two out of three but lost the three game total by four pins.

F. Whitfield 224 lead the single games while H. Crumley's 556 was high triple.

Connor-Wagoner gave up a 164 pin handicap which proved too much as they lost 2213 to 2110. Rusty O'Mealy's 176 and 467 total were both high single and triple.

Aene Cleaners dropped the match 2234 to 2048. B. Smith of Warrensburg had a 178 and a 501 to lead in that match.

Baseball In Trouble But Few Fully Appreciate Difficulty

NEW YORK — By this time it must be generally known that baseball is in trouble, because the sports pages have been full of it lately. We doubt though that the full extent of the dilemma facing the national game is fully appreciated yet.

It goes far deeper than the problems connected with radio and television, though these undoubtedly have played their part in making the sport as sick as it is. The simple fact is that the entire minor league structure is threatened with collapse. That means, believe it or not, that baseball as we have known it is in genuine danger.

No set of big league magnates ever met before with as many pressing problems on their minds as those who will be gathered here this week. Their wrangle with the players about the pension fund is comparatively small potatoes, explosive it is, of course, potentially.

Decisions need to be made right now toward relieving the distress of the minor leagues. Even a year from now might be too late, unless the majors have resigned themselves to eventually drawing their talent from the colleges and semipro.

Only five seasons ago, in 1949, there were 37 minor leagues in the country producing players who might eventually help stock the two big leagues. This past season the number had shrunk to 38, and there will be fewer this year. In 1948 all baseball, minor and major, did 68 million dollars worth of business. Last year the figure was 49 million.

Paul Brown, Producer Of Champions

CLEVELAND — Paul Brown is the sort of David who could not be satisfied merely with slaying a Goliath.

Ere the giant had been buried, this David would have been organizing a slingshot brigade to run the Phillistines out of Green Valley, even unto the hills.

Not that the coach of the Cleveland Browns is a midget. In his well modulated business clothes, almost always in blending shades of brown, he stands 5 feet 11. His weight, now that he is 45, is 160. You might spot him in a crowd as a well established professional man.

His eyes catch your attention. They are quick, friendly and penetrating. What few people know is that the pupils of Brown's eyes are abnormally large, giving him remarkable vision. "I can see a lot," he explains, "and I can see a long way. My eyes are the best physical equipment I have."

Although Brown's stature is normal, there is a lot of the "Little David" theme in his playing days. In his last high school year his weight got up to 135, and in his last college year to 151.

Brown went to Ohio State University as a freshman, was promptly ignored, and transferred to Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, a much smaller school. His junior and senior years he was varsity quarterback, punter, safety man and principal passer. His team won 13 of 17 games.

A lot of people know the Cleveland Browns won every championship in the old All-American Conference 1946 through 1949, the National League title in 1950 and divisional championships ever since. They may remember Brown's 15-9-2 record in two years at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center. And his "Coach of the Year" title with the Big Ten champions at Ohio State in 1942.

But it was in nine years (1932-40) at his old home town of Massillon that Brown learned his trade and made his mark. There his teams won 80, lost only eight and tied two.

They all call Brown a "great organizer." If that is the word for it, he organized Massillon to the hilt. Washington high, with a record of about 1,500, had won one game the year before Brown came back, had a stadium seating 5,000, and its football facilities were in the red. The three junior high schools and football coaches who used different systems.

After about three years, Brown had his system. The four junior high coaches were his handpicked assistants. They taught their boys the Brown fundamentals. The Brown plays. If he was going to need tackles shortly, they developed tackles. It was a farm system with a bang.

In the final six years of the Brown regime at Massillon, his teams played 60 games, had one losing season, took six state championships, and outgrew a new stadium seating 21,000.

Tight covers will save money by preventing waste from drying and flavor mingling. LEXINGTON, Ky. — The feeling around the Blue Grass today was that Kentucky, college basketball's sleeping giant, woke with a snort. The Wildcats, nervous, jittery and somewhat clumsy after a full season on the sidelines, waded through a good Temple team, 86-59, Saturday night, and Coach Adolph Rupp saw enough to please him.

"We made mistakes," Rupp said today, "but they were expected. We are capable of playing much better ball. Give us four or five more games and we should look much better."

Kentucky, long a leading national basketball power, had to sit out last season as punishment for "overemphasis."

Rupp used the sitdown—ordered by the Southeastern Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association—to work on some refinements he said he had in mind, and the word was out that Kentucky was "loaded" for its return to the campaign.

Kentucky was unable to live up to the "loaded" reputation against Temple, although the victory was an easy one and Cliff Hagan broke some scoring records with his 51-point production.

Another Unbeaten Record Lies Buried In Refrigerator Bowl

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — A third unbeaten record in football lies buried in the Refrigerator Bowl where the College of Idaho lost yesterday to Sam Houston State, 14-12. The Idahoans are the third unbeaten team to be slapped down in the six years the small college post-season game has been played.

Evansville College knocked off undefeated Missouri Valley in 1948 and undefeated Hillsdale of Michigan in 1949.

The Refrigerator Bowl is named for Evansville's three big refrigerator manufacturers.

Sam Houston State's victory margin was a third quarter safety scored when end Max Whitley tackled College of Idaho's halfback Walt Jakubowski in the C. I. end zone.

Yawkey Will Vote Against Player Claim

NEW YORK — Tom Yawkey, president of the Boston Red Sox and a member of baseball's Executive Council, said today he would vote against the major league players' demand for an increase in pension benefits and hinted he also was against boosting the minimum wage from $5,000 to $7,200.

The portly Red Sox owner, who favored the resolution calling for possible termination of the pension plan, said he was all in favor of the players operating the fund themselves if they wanted to.

"It would be very nice to turn it over to them if they want to run the thing," he said. "I would be glad to turn my end over to them provided they satisfy me for what I have contributed."

Yawkey said the players' request to raise the pension benefits from a $50-$100 scale to an $80-$150 and lowering the qualifying age from 50 to 45, was not workable.

"It's like the age-old law of supply and demand," he said. "You can't take out twice as much as you pay in. If there were enough on the television revenue from the Series and All-Star Game, I don't believe anyone would object to increasing the benefits. But I certainly won't vote for it because you just can't give away what you haven't got."

The wealthy Red Sox president believes, however, the differences between the players and owners can be straightened out to the satisfaction of both sides.

"I certainly intend to try my best, despite my personal feelings in the matter, to use my judgment to do what I consider is for the best interests of baseball," he said. "There is no reason why this thing can't be straightened out. All that is necessary is a little common sense by both sides."

Yawkey verified that the owners are not going to decide whether to retain or drop the pension plan at the current meetings. They simply will consider the resolution to appoint an exploration committee to study the possibility of dissolving the fund. The owners can drop the plan with 90 days notice.

Each league has scheduled separate meetings today and tomorrow. The three-day conclaves ended Wednesday with a joint meeting presided over by Commissioner Ford Frick. The National has a proposal to change its rules on playing off a pennant tie. The National now has a best-of-three playoff and the American a one-game finale. If the amendment is adopted, the National also would play one game.

Only Giants Between Lions And West Title

NEW YORK — Only the New York Giants, one of the weaker National Football League eleven, stood between the Detroit Lions and another Western Division title today.

The Lions, winners of the 1952 crown, clinched at least a tie for the division lead yesterday by defeating the Chicago Bears 13-7. By winning, they maintained their one-game margin over the San Francisco 49ers, who walloped the Green Bay Packers 48-14.

If yesterday's performance by the Giants means anything, Detroit is a cinch to win next weekend. The New Yorkers were the victims in Cleveland's 11th straight victory as the Eastern Division champions compiled their highest total in four years—62-14. The championship game is scheduled for Dec. 27 on the field of the Western Division leaders.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Steelers downed the winless Chicago Cardinals 21-17 and the Washington Redskins blanked the Philadelphia Eagles 10-0. Los Angeles swamped Baltimore 45-2 Saturday. However, yesterday's Detroit victory mathematically eliminated the Rams from the Western Division race.

Doak Walker and Bobby Layne were the big guns in the Detroit attack. Walker kicked a pair of field goals and Layne uncorked a touchdown pass to Dorn Dibble. The Bears, hemmed in by the Lions' bruising line play, waited until the final two minutes for their lone score, resulting from an 11-yard pass from Tommy O'Connell to Ed Macon.

The 49ers had an easy time of it against the Packers. They scored two touchdowns in the first and third periods, and singles in the second and final quarters.

Groom-to-Be Wins Havana Golf Tourney

HAVANA — Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., had everybody on his side in the Havana Country Club's invitational tournament as soon as it became known he was to marry pretty red-haired Lynn Steward at Coconut Grove, Fla., Dec. 14.

The Cubans promptly called Toski "la Bomba Atomic" because he weighs only 130 pounds but plays a powerful game of golf.

Toski didn't let his fans down. He won the 72-hole tournament, beating 30 other professionals with a four-round total of 272. That was one stroke better than the scores turned in by Al Bessellink of Grossingers, N. Y., Freddie Haas of New Orleans and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.

The little New Englander put on a finish that had a touch of dramatics. His drive on the 381-yard par 4 18th hole was to the right of the fairway behind towering palm trees.

"The only way I could get from there to the green was to put a sharp slice on the ball and knock it between the palms," Toski said.

Challengers May Emerge From 2 Bouts

NEW YORK (AP)—Challengers for both lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and middleweight King Bobo Olson may come out of this week's top two bouts.

Wallace (Bud) Smith, the No. 1 lightweight contender from Cincinnati, and Orlando Zulueta of Cuba, the No. 2 135-pounder, collide for the fourth time Friday night at Madison Square Garden. They're all even so far, each with a win, loss and a draw. Both have been clamoring for a crack at Carter. Smith, who has flattened five rivals in a row, is a 17-10 favorite.

The 10 p.m. EST. bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC). Rocky Castellani, No. 2 middleweight contender from Cleveland, and Gil Turner, No. 4 from Philadelphia, face each other in the main 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena Wednesday night. It tops a fine card on the Cleveland News-Christmas Fund show. Willie Troy of Washington and Tuzo (Kid) Portuquez of Costa Rica meet in another middleweight 10.

Turner, who recently moved into the 160-pound ranks, is a surprising 8 to 5 choice.

The Castellani-Turner fray will be telecast (CBS) starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Teddy (Red Top) Davis, the No. 1 featherweight contender from Hartford, Conn., is a slight 13-10 favorite to beat young Tony De Marco of Boston in a hot New England special at the Boston Garden Saturday night. Red Top also is the New England lightweight king but his regional title won't be at stake. New England will be blacked out of the coast to coast (ABC) telecast, which starts at 9 p.m. EST.

Paddy de Marco, the No. 9 lightweight from Brooklyn, faces Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles, in the main 10 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. The aggressive Brooklyn billygoat is an 11 to 5 favorite over Chavez, who is making his New York debut at a main event. Paddy was defeated in Boston by Tony de Marco, who is no relation.

Big 7 Teams Have 11 Non-Conference Games This Week, 3 Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Big Seven Conference basketball teams have 11 non-league games this week, starting with three contests tonight.

Two of tonight's games will be played on Big Seven courts—Colorado A&M at Colorado and Drake at Missouri. Kansas State, fresh from beating Denver 70-41 last Saturday, meets NCAA defending champion Indiana at Bloomington.

Indiana beat Cincinnati 78-65 Saturday. On Thursday, NCAA runnerup Kansas travels to Tulane for its season opener and continues on to Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday.

In other games involving conference teams Saturday: Missouri plays at Wisconsin, Oklahoma at Ohio State, Oklahoma A&M at Colorado, Iowa State at Creighton, Wyoming at Kansas State and Iowa at Nebraska.

Basketball Coming Back To Normalcy

NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball took on an aura of normalcy today because:

1. Kentucky was back in action after being suspended a year by the Southeastern Conference.

2. Branch McCracken, coach of NCAA champion Indiana, has expressed dissatisfaction with his team.

On Thursday, NCAA runnerup Kansas travels to Tulane for its season opener and continues on to Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday.

All this and the season only one week old. Adolph Rupp's Kentucky team spent most of last year practicing for the current campaign with the avowed intention of winning the national title and showing no mercy in the process.

The Wildcats looked like they might make good on their threat in their opener Saturday when they massacred Temple 86-59 behind the 51-point scoring binge of Cliff Hagen, their 1951 All America. This represented a Kentucky record for one-game point production.

"We didn't play nearly as well as we are capable," said Rupp. "We'll need four or five games to get the feel of competition again."

Kentucky plays only one game this week—against Xavier of Ohio in Cincinnati.

McCracken's pessimism over Indiana well may be justified. The Hoosiers had their troubles licking Cincinnati 78-65 after holding a slight one-point margin at the half.

The coach sadly proclaimed the club had "a long way to go" if it is going to repeat as Big Ten and NCAA titlist.

The Hoosiers won't have a chance to relax tonight. They play Kansas State, one of the three teams to defeat them last season. State opened its campaign with a 70-41 victory over Denver.

As for Francis and Rio Grande, they have played four games and won two after running up a 40-game winning streak. Bevo has bit down for 176 points in the four games for an average of 44 points per game.

In all, the general impression was that Rio Grande is a good, small college team, but still very much in the small college class.

Snead Will Attempt Sixth Championship At His Tournament

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sam Snead's tournament—the $10,000 Miami Open—will bring the 1953 professional golf campaign to a close this week and the veteran slammer from West Virginia will be here to try for his sixth championship.

They started calling it "Snead's Tournament" after Sammy won it the fourth and fifth times in 1950 and 1951, and there's a soft spot in Snead's heart for this meeting, because it marked a turning point in his career back in 1937.

That year, Snead had finished second in so many tournaments he was getting a runnerup complex. Then he won the Miami Open and went on to take eight in a row to climb to the top of the money-winning list.

Burke, who had his tonsils removed recently, will not be here to defend his title.

Some 250 pros and amateurs are expected to enter the Miami Open starting Thursday at the Miami Springs Municipal Course.

Expect Player Demands Will Be Rejected

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the big league players' major demands—boosts in pension benefits, elimination of the 30-day release clause and an increase in minimum wages from $5,000 to $7,200—were expected to be rejected by the club owners at their three-day meeting starting today.

Other player requests, such as elimination of night games in spring training and on getaway days during the regular season, increase in meal money on the road, lowering of veteran's status from 10 to 8 years, no two-night doubleheaders, monetary allowance for players living away from home during spring training, and other lesser demands likely will be granted.

High on the agenda is the recommendation by baseball's five-man Executive Council last Sept. 29 that a committee be named to consider terminating the pension plan. The multimillion-dollar plan, cause of one of the biggest player-owner disputes in years, popped back in the news last night when Ralph Kiner of the Chicago Cubs, National League player representative, said the owners had never presented any resolution to end the plan.

Kiner and Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees, American League player representative, met with player spokesmen of all 16 clubs last Tuesday. But the council's recommendation on the pension plan wasn't made public until Wednesday, and then only after Kiner and Reynolds walked out on a conference with Commissioner Ford Frick. The players said they left because their lawyer, J. Norman Lewis, wasn't allowed to attend the meeting.

"The statement the owners made that they had a resolution to end the pension plan and that Allie Reynolds and I had failed to notify the players about this resolution is a complete falsehood," Kiner said.

"Never at any time did the owners make such a resolution. At our Atlanta meeting Mr. J. Norman Lewis, our attorney, assured the 16 player representatives that there was no chance of the pension plan being dropped."

Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox and a member of the Executive Council, made it clear that the magnates are not going to decide at the meetings here whether to retain or drop the pension plan. They simply will consider the Executive Council's recommendation.

Boy Gives Bone Of Leg So Girl May Walk Again

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—A newspaper copy boy gave an 8½-inch piece of bone from his leg so that an 11-year-old girl on the next block might recover from a leg tumor.

A Jim Welch responded to a radio appeal. He will be hospitalized about a month—during the Christmas season—and will be on crutches about three months. He is 18.

Welch's pay will be continued by the Rochester Times-Union until he is back on the job.

The girl, Mary Ann Ranney, was suffering from Albright's syndrome, a leg tumor described by doctors as not malignant. She had been ailing eight years.

Welch heard about Mary Ann's need for a bone transplant last month. He knew the family by sight only.

Doctors told Jim what the operation would mean to him. He said he was willing when they told him he could expect to recover fully before the start of the football season next spring.

The operation, performed Monday, took four hours. The bone slice, a half inch wide, was removed from his lower left leg and grafted on Mary Ann's lower leg. A physician said today Mary Ann's condition was satisfactory, with no complications so far.

It was the second bone graft for Mary Ann. A slice from her father's leg failed to take several years ago. Since then she has had three exploratory operations.

Mary Ann's father, Carl, said he had offered Welch a check, but he turned it down.

"Jim's a brave boy," said Mrs. Ranney.

Welch, still in pain and misery today from the operation, had little to say to a reporter who called. "I just hope it will help the girl," he said.

Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Welch, said they approved their son's decision.

"How could we refuse?" Mrs. Welch asked. "We just hope and pray it works out for the girl."

French Forces Stop Red Attempt To Take Key Post

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French army command said today its forces beat off a Vietminh attempt to destroy Gia Loc, a key French stronghold near the seaport of Haiphong. The French claimed they inflicted "extremely heavy losses" on the Communist rebels.

The French acknowledged, however, that French and Vietnamese troops manning the post and the armored column sent to their aid suffered "serious losses" in the five-hour battle yesterday. No figures were given.

Crack Vietminh Regiment 42, reinforced by regional battalions, blasted the fort with heavy mortar and machine gun fire just before dawn. An infantry assault followed.

A French relief column fought its way through an ambush on the road with the aid of French fighters and bombers. The Vietminh fled when the column finally drove through to the fort.

Talbert Names 4-Man Team to Face Belgium In Davis Cup Final

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Captain Bill Talbert today named a four-man U. S. team, including himself, to face Belgium in the Davis Cup interzone tennis final here Dec. 17-19.

The team: Tony Trabert, Cincinnati; Vic Seixas, Philadelphia; Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La.; and Talbert of New York.

Truman Dislikes Books Written Of Administration

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 7.—Former President Harry S. Truman said Saturday he is against the idea of former members of his staff writing books discussing intimate details of his administration.

Truman made his remarks in reference to a book, "The Secret Diary of Harold L. Ickes," his one-time secretary of interior. He told a reporter during a brief train stop here while en route to his Missouri home from New York: "It may be funny, but I don't think it's right. An official should be able to talk frankly with his staff. It's sort of like wiretapping by the FBI, which can't be introduced in court."

Truman admitted he hadn't had a chance to read the book, which is the first in a series telling about the first 1,000 days of the New Deal. Ickes served through Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration and briefly under Truman.

He again refused to comment on the recent Harry Dexter White controversy, saying, "It's a dead horse and there's no reason to dig it up."

Four Jets Hit Pine Thicket, Pilots Killed

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 7.—Four Thunderjets in tight formation shot through low-hanging clouds near here early yesterday and slammed into a pine thicket, carrying their pilots to instant death.

Officials at Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta, Ga., home base of the single-seater planes, theorized that they got lost in rough, rainy weather. They crashed only a few minutes before they were scheduled to land at Dobbins after an instrument flight from Miami.

The pilots, all members of the Atlanta Air National Guard unit, were identified as Capt. Idon M. Dodge Jr., 30, Atlanta; 1st Lt. Samuel P. Dixon, Chamblaine; 1st Lt. Elwood C. Kent, 28, East Point; and 2nd Lt. William A. Tennent, 25, Atlanta.

Bodies of the pilots were found several hundred yards from the wreckage.

Officials estimated the jets were traveling at more than 250 m.p.h. on impact. Wreckage was scattered over a three-quarter-mile area.

22 US Balty Prisoners May Be Interviewed

About December 14

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Dec. 7.—It appeared likely today that explanations to 22 American captives of the Reds, listed as unwilling to return home, will begin about Dec. 14—nine days before the deadline for such interviews. The one Briton also may be interviewed then.

Despite the fact that all 130 South Koreans interviewed to date have chosen to stay with communism, American officers appeared optimistic that several of the 22 would be coaxed back. The views came from sources in position to collect information on the Americans held in the neutral zone compounds.

Some American officers even predicted that half of the 22 would leave the Reds.

The explanation talks were in recess today until Monday as were discussions aimed at arranging a Korean peace conference.

Rich Widow Won't Marry Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty and fabulously rich widow has called off plans to marry Jack Dempsey with the statement "Oil and water simply won't mix." She says she's flying back to Florida today.

"We're just too different," says Mrs. Estelle Auguste, possessor of a fortune estimated at 45 million dollars.

The breakup came last night, three days after the Palm Beach, Fla., widow had announced she would marry the man who used his iron fists to slug his way to fame and fortune.

Dempsey had stalked out of Mrs. Auguste's apartment in the Waldorf Astoria hotel a few minutes before she announced the engagement was broken.

At the Mayflower Hotel, where the former world heavyweight champion is staying, a telephone operator said in answer to calls: "Mr. Dempsey is extremely tired. He has left instructions not to be disturbed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock."

Mrs. Auguste—who at 42 is 16 years younger than Dempsey—was interviewed at her hotel apartment last night, and again by telephone early today.

"I don't think there is any chance of a reconciliation—we're both so different," she said.

Asked how she reached her decision that an oil-and-water situation existed, she said:

"I always knew it, but I didn't think it would make such a vast difference until our engagement was announced."

"I found many of my friends would not accept him. . . I was told that if I married Jack Dempsey you can get with the sporting crowd. Don't bother us."

Mrs. Auguste said that all her life she has associated with society people—and not cafe society.

She inherited her wealth from her second husband, H. Spencer Auguste, founder of the Commercial trust and executive of the May Co., a department store chain. He died about four years ago.

Dempsey, who had known her husband for years, proposed marriage to the widow about a year after Auguste's death.

The blonde widow said the breakup with Dempsey wasn't caused by "any one thing." She added that there were "a lot of things that got to be more and more important when we were together."

Mrs. Auguste said there was an incident—concerning movie star Kirk Douglas—which "probably ignited the whole thing" and "started us off" last night at Lindy's Restaurant.

She said she told Dempsey she was inviting Douglas to visit them at Palm Beach for the Christmas holiday—after their marriage. She said Dempsey became "furious."

She added that she didn't know why Dempsey was angry, and declared the Douglas invitation was "only a friendly gesture," and "after all, he's a nice fellow."

Mrs. Auguste said Douglas had written asking her not "to do anything" until he got here from Europe Dec. 15. Asked if that in-

Japanese PW Saw Americans' In Red Prison

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese prisoner of war recently repatriated from Russia said today he saw "American prisoners" in a prison south-east of Vladivostok.

Tadashi Maeda, 58, a former Navy captain and military attaché, made the statement in testimony before the Repatriation Committee of Japan's House of Representatives.

Maeda is one of 811 Japanese returned from Russia last Tuesday.

He reported the Vladimir prison, from which he was released, confines only "foreign convicts."

"The largest population in the prison was Germans, followed by Japanese, Finnish, Polish, Turks, French, Britons, Dutch, Estonian and American prisoners of war," he said.

He gave no details.

Maeda said the treatment was on the level of "the lowest subsistence standard."

Meals, however, had improved since February, he added. When he left, he said, the daily ration was 700 grams of rye bread, 40 grams of powdered grain, 110 grams of grain, meat, fish, salt, sugar and vegetable.

Amos' Daughter Weds

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Virginia Maria Gosden, 23, daughter of Freeman Gosden, who is the Amos 'n Andy radio show, was married yesterday to Richard Emery Jackson, 29, an oil company employee.

Toast bread on one side under the broiler. Spread the untoasted side with baked beans and sprinkle with grated yellow cheese. Place under the broiler until the beans are hot and the cheese is melted. These sandwiches make a good Sunday night supper course; serve baked apples for dessert.

Lost Boy Is Found On Edge of High Cliff

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Dickie Lutzoff, 8, lost for 10 freezing hours in the San Gabriel Mountains, was rescued yesterday from a Mt. Wilson cliff by three members of the Altadena Mountaineers Rescue Club. They found him perched on an old slide overlooking a 1,000-foot precipice.

Dickie said he hadn't moved from 4 p.m. Saturday when he became lost until he was found.

The lad had gone into the mountains with three other youngsters but had decided to return alone by a short cut, sheriff's officers said.

Stratojet Cuts Former Trans-Atlantic Record

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A B47 Stratojet bomber flew nonstop from England to MacDill Air Force Base here yesterday in 8 hours 53 minutes, clipping 14 minutes off the old record for the 4,480 miles.

"Aside from strong head winds we encountered no difficulties," Col. William E. Creer of Spanish Fork, Utah, commander of the bomber, said.
